Dear Hiring Manager,

My name is Peter Gabriel E. Tuason, and I'm writing to apply for the UX Design Work Study Job. As a University of Toronto Student majoring in Geographic Data Science (GIS) and Communication, Culture, Information and Technology (CCIT), focused on UX Design and research studies, my qualifications would align well with this role.

In my academics, I have gained many skills pertaining to UX design and data research that helped build the foundations of my capabilities in working on various projects. From these learnings, I can seamlessly collect and quantify data to provide valuable information regarding user needs in either a UX or spatial context. Moreover, I have also utilized this data through analytical skills and formed visually engaging and understandable data to provide shareholders with information to improve products or meet the needs of people. This is seen through my projects, such as the personal bills explainer UX project I crafted with a team and another project where we quantified data from census tracts in conjunction with hospital facilities to help support new immigrant families.

Additionally, I have volunteer and work experiences that emphasize collaboration and adaptability. Under the University of Toronto Trading Card Club, I function as an executive, helping other executives with various events and activities, such as advertising for card shows or providing technical help. Additionally, I have assisted A Greener Future in a project seeking to hire more volunteers to help with their environmental causes. Lastly, in the roles I took under the Bramalae Baptist Church, I learned how to work with groups of volunteers to effectively make a church service run seamlessly as a cameraman and in the lighting position.

I believe my ability to collaborate with a team, craft understandable artifacts, and data analysis skills make me an ideal fit for this role. If you have any questions, please contact me at 647-581-4607 or peter.tuason@mail.utoronto.ca. I look forward to talking more about this opportunity. Thank you again for your time.

Best,

Peter Tuason
